Presidential Electors Must all be Chosen in State Convention

HEADQUARTERS
REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE
AUGUSTA MAINE Jan 8 1896

In the Republican year of Maine—1892 to 1892 inclusive—the electors pledged to support the candidates for President and Vice President of the United States were nominated in the State convention and the remaining electors were elected by the electors of the United States and Governor Boutelle who were elected by the several congressional districts

The passage of the Australian ballot law entirely changed this method. Under the law all conventions are prohibited on election days and all candidates for electors must be placed in nomination by petition and their names will be printed on the official ballot under the general heading of candidates for electors at large and candidates for electors in the several districts

In the case of the delegations from any City Town or Plantation can only be filled by a resident of the County from which the vacancy exists

The State Committee will be in session in the Reception Room of the hall at nine o'clock on the forenoon of the said day for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates Delegates and parties entitled to participate in the convention must be elected subsequent to the date of the call for this convention and delegates from this call should be elected in the State convention to be held after the call for the purpose of nominating a candidate for governor

It is stated that the dusky voters to Boss Cobb's forty dollars a plate The Democratic braves have been fasting for some time and had their appetites with them on the occasion of this banquet

The Philadelphia Press says Maine is running Congress at both ends of the Capitol and it looks as if Maine would be running the Government before many more years Maine is a great State

The statistics show that the colored population of the South pays taxes upon $135 000 000 worth of property That does not show that the black man has been a lazy drone refusing to work for the past thirty years It is also well to remember that this accumulation has all been gathered under the most trying conditions with the great mass of negroes shut out from most of the money making trades and professions

The action of Senator Hoar as President protem of the Senate in a fitting recognition of long and valuable service The manner of his election was especially gratifying The Republicans who having a majority in the Senate lacked a majority and a combination of Democrats and Populists could have elected the election of Senator Hoar He is an uncompromising Republican, but he enjoys the respect and confidence of men of all parties and no opposition was made to his election Maine now furnishes the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, and will probably furnish the next President of the United States

Harping to the Talbert incident in the House Republicans make the Concord Monitor say Mr Barrett of Massachusetts denied that the language he had taken down and offered a resolution of censure, declaring that Mr Talbert's words were reasonable and sedition Amid the confusion Mr Barrett pressed his resolution but it was not received with favor by many Republican members who the press reports say believed the matter had gone far enough We do not agree with these Republicans We do agree with Mr Barrett that no man can take an oath to support the government of the United States as a member of Congress and then declare upon the floor of Congress that under certain conditions he would secede from the Union and undertake to overthrow the government he has sworn to support So long as he can do this we believe, without committing treason Mr Barrett was right Those weak headed Republicans who believed the matter had gone far enough were wrong We pointed South Carolina's utterances once and they led to war They should now be silenced at the outset

The Revenue Bill

The New York Herald seems to have considerable difficulty in comprehending the fact that its tariff views have been very effectually discounted by the American people The argument it uses against the revenue bill is a most amusing one It says that this is no time to press any scheme of tariff revision which would necessarily derange the business of the country, and turn back the tide of reviving prosperity which the country was enjoying until the present Congress met The "reviving prosperity" was principally to be found in the columns of Democratic papers, but such restoration of confidence as has taken place was due solely to the fact of the election of this Congress with a large Republican majority in the House The Herald and other papers of like character were busy all through the last campaign pointing out the danger to be apprehended from the election of a Republican House, which, they claimed, would open up the tariff question, but the people did not care worth a cent. Indeed they want the tariff question opened. They have suffered severely as a result of Democratic foolishness and placed the seal of condemnation upon the acts of that party with an emphasis never before equalled in this country. With the divided strength in Congress the Republicans did not attempt at this session to revise the tariff in detail, but manifesting a degree of devotion to the public weal entirely beyond the conception of the Democrats, because the members of that organization never look at any question except in its bearing on party politics, accepted the appeal of the President in good faith and prepared an emergency revenue bill to supply the deficit that has led to repeated bond sales in order to save the Treasury from bankruptcy. That bill is now pending in the Senate and its failure will be directly chargeable to the Democratic party. The talk about disturbing business is mere froth. Republican tariff legislation which is always in the interest of derstood by the people, who having had an opportunity to appreciate the real meaning of the Democratic policy, not the policy contained in campaign pledges but the actual fruits of Democratic control, can no longer be disturbed by the vapourings of the Herald If the revenue bill calculated to furnish needed revenue fails it will only add one more count to the indictment to which the Democratic party must answer in November next.

Helps the Foreigner.

The Boston Transcript publishes the following figures showing the effect of the existing tariff law as it relates to textiles

"Figures are published showing the total of imports of textiles into the United States in 1893 Probably in no department of our foreign merchandise trade has appeared more direct evidence of the stimulus to foreign purchases given by the revised tariff than in wool and its manufactures The complete figures show that our imports of raw wool increased in value from thirteen and one quarter millions in 1894 to thirty-three and three quarters millions in 1895, or over 150 per cent Manufacturers of wool imported ran up from under seventeen millions in 1894 to over sixty millions in 1896 or more than 250 per cent Of the total sixty millions, nearly forty-eight millions represent the value of imports of cloth and dress goods, making wool and manufactures thereof together we find the total value of imports thereof in 1895 to have been ninety-four million dollars, an increase of sixty-four millions over the total of such imports in 1894, or an increase of more than 200 per cent

"In a less extent imports of other textiles were stimulated in the same way Cotton goods imported increased from twenty seven millions to thirty-five millions or by forty per cent, raw cotton, from four millions to five millions, or twenty five per cent, silk goods from twenty six millions to thirty one and one-half millions or by more than twenty per cent. Taking these textiles and manufactures in the aggregate, we find the imports thereof nearly doubled in 1895 compared with 1894, rising from eighty-five millions to one hundred and sixty six millions—twelve per cent increase The importance of these increases in textile imports is seen from the fact that while in 1894 wool, cotton, silk and their manufactures formed but 14 per cent of the total merchandise imports received into the country, in 1895 they furnished 20½ per cent of the aggregate imports Furthermore, of the $125 000 000 total increase in our merchandise imports in 1895 over 1894 no less than two thirds, or $81 000 000, was furnished by the textiles and their manufactures

Here we have an illustration of the benefits of the Democratic tariff law Instead of making our goods at home as was done under the last Republican tariff we now purchase them from the foreign manufacturers thus curtailing the operations of our mills and giving just that amount less work to American labor In other words, owing to the stupidity of the Democratic party we have opened our market to the foreigners who have promptly availed themselves of the golden opportunity After reading the above figures one is not surprised that the London Times of Wednesday should declare that the Democratic tariff has proved the salvation of the British manufacturers

MANITOBA SCHOOL BILL

Recognizing Fact that Catholics Have Just Grievance.

The Bill Proposes to Restore to Them Their Educational Rights.

Ottawa, Ont, Feb 10—The following is a synopsis of the Manitoba remedial bill which will come before the House of Commons today or to morrow

Starting out with the recognition of the principles that the Catholics have a just grievance, the bill proposes to restore to the Catholics of Manitoba their educational rights, by permitting them to establish separate schools, and assumes that the provincial government will accept the law, once it is passed, hence an alternative course is not supplied

Should however, the provincial authorities fail to give effect to the provisions of the bill, it is obvious that subsequent legislation will be required The law when it goes into effect is not likely to disturb to any material extent the existing state of affairs as regards education in Manitoba West of the Red river according to the statistics in the possession of the government not more than ten or twelve Catholic school districts can be created and in no case will the boundaries of Catholic school districts be co-terminous with those of public schools

In Winnipeg and Ste Boniface and a few scattering settlements on the east bank of the Red river the measure will principally apply The measure recites in the preamble the reasons which have induced the Dominion Parliament to pass legislation of this nature and declares legislation expedient to do so

The title of the bill is the Remedial Act Manitoba The provisions authorize the appointment of a board of education after the provisions of the Act Catholics who wish to form separate schools must be Roman Catholics and the board will be managed by them

The board will be charged with management and control of separate schools and the selection of text books The qualification of teachers in Catholic schools is also provided for Schools of the province shall be conducted in accordance with the terms of the bill and the regulations thereunder Provision is made for the establishment of normal schools and for employment of public school teachers

In the event of the provincial authorities failing to appoint a school board for education such board will be appointed by the federal authorities

A superintendent of education is also to be appointed by the provincial government who will have the general supervision and inspection of the Catholic schools Failing action on the part of the provincial government this superintendent will be appointed by the Dominion

Separate schools districts may be established on the petition of fifteen families who are Catholics and who place themselves on certain terms for the support of the schools Where municipal by laws are in force in Catholic school districts the municipal council will levy the amount required by the trustees of the Catholic schools for the support of their schools

In cases where Roman Catholics will contribute support of any parochial schools they will not be liable to taxation for the support of public schools

In cases where Roman Catholics will contribute amount in any school district for the support of Protestant public schools, persons supporting Protestant schools are relieved from taxation for the support of public schools

In Winnipeg and Ste Boniface and a few scattering settlements on the east bank of the Red river the measure will principally apply The measure recites in the preamble the reasons which have induced the Dominion Parliament to pass legislation of this nature and declares legislation expedient to do so
